

Universal Creighton Charter School

Challenge

The school's 380-seat auditorium was showing its age. The existing chairs were uncomfortable, outdated, and beginning to affect the experience for students, staff, and guests. Replacing hundreds of seats while adhering to a strict schedule and budget presented a unique challenge. The work had to be completed safely, efficiently, and without interfering with the school's operations.

Universal Creighton Charter School, a cornerstone of its community and a hub for student growth, sought to revitalize its auditorium to create a more comfortable and modern space for assemblies, performances, and school-wide events. With over 380 seats, the space was essential to campus life—but years of daily use had left the existing seating worn, outdated, and in need of a full replacement.

Boomerang Office Furniture partnered with Sedia Systems to deliver a complete seating replacement project that gave the auditorium a refreshed, professional look and improved functionality.
